The Pilkington family Trust

Admiral nurse service aims to provide specialist support, information and advice to beneficiaries whose lives are affected by Dementia.

Our aim is to support peoples' independence, improve their sense of well-being and help them enhance their quality of life.

Admiral nurses are registered nurses specialising in dementia.

The service has been developed in partnership with Dementia UK, a national charity which promotes and develops Admiral nursing.

Gill Connor, Admiral Nurse, and Maralyn Devlin, Dementia Support Worker, will be providing assistance to identify needs, help carers develop skills in care giving, help access appropriate services and provide information and opportunities to remain socially involved.
